

Controls as Your Foundation: A Small Price to Pay for Protecting Your Brand

Quality Assurance Budget

Your brand is your greatest asset AND your greatest risk. Prevention and preparedness are the best ways to avoid product recalls and protect your brand.

A small portion of your Quality Assurance budget is spent on microbiological controls, yet they are the very foundation of your testing program. Without good controls, how can you be sure your test methods, materials, equipment and personnel are capable of detecting contamination?

By incorporating our highly accredited and fully traceable quality control microorganism strains into your routine food testing program, Microbiologics can help you ensure test accuracy, reduce risk and prevent product recalls.

At Microbiologics, we have a four-point commitment to a safer, healthier world:

- The world's most trusted provider
- Customer-focused in product design and delivery
- Caring experts at the ready
- World-class expertise and excellence

